THE GEFFRYE
MUSEUM OF THE HOME

Museum in Residence

The Geffrye Museum can set up 'home' in your school over a number of days to create an immersive experience for all your classes to take part in. We will work with you to plan bespoke themes relevant to the curriculum across the whole school. We can deliver interactive, hands-on sessions from Nursery to Year 6 and will create a timetable to suit your needs. Our cross-curricular sessions meet National Curriculum requirements for Literacy, History and Science.

Handling Collection

Our handling collection contains objects found in the home over the last 400 years and can be used to support classroom-based learning. Our objects are used to explore home life at different periods throughout time as well as broader themes throughout history.

Choice is important, so we have created a way for you to build your own handling sessions using our collection to ensure our outreach visit best reflects your school's curriculum. Just choose relevant time periods or themes from below for each class taking part:

During your tailor made handling session pupils will:

- Handle real and replica objects from the past
- Explore what home life was like in the past
- Develop practical historical enquiry skills
- Develop speaking and listening skills, sharing their own thoughts and ideas
- Work together in groups to observe and record objects from the collection

All sessions are delivered by experienced museum facilitators.
